Speeding snowmobiles worry Dysart

Council concerned about liability, will stop plowing roads if situation persists

Dysart et al council is worried about the consequences of snowmobilers driving too fast on cottage roads, so worried in fact that it is threatening to stop plowing some roads unless the cottage associations deal with the problem. Specifically, council is concerned about the extent of municipal liability if a snowmobiler collides with a plow.

In January, a snowmobiler died when his machine struck a privately owned pickup truck on the Harburn

Road. The truck driver was charged with failing to share half the roadway, and has been named in a suit launched by the estate of the dead man, William Mitchell. But the municipality also has been put on notice of possible litigation because of the condition of the road on which the accident occurred.

The matter has been turned over to the municipality's insurers but in the meantime, council has decided to take steps that will reduce the possibility of similar suits in the future.

Road superintendent Howard Roberts told council on Monday that the problem of snowmobilers travelling too fast on municipal roads is acute.

"The rules of the road mean absolutely nothing to them," Roberts said. The situation is so serious that a police escort may be needed if plowing is to be carried out between Christmas and New

Years in the Haliburton Lake and KENNISIS Lake area, Roberts said, stressing that his crews may refuse to go out on the roads unless action is taken.

The road superintendent said it is not uncommon to see youngsters travelling along roads in the KENNISIS Lake area at speeds he estimated may reach 70 miles an hour.

"We have a serious problem," Roberts said. "All those cottage roads at KENNISIS are just a nightmare on weekends".

Councillor Glen Hodgson said the municipality faces the "serious question" of whether or not it must abandon some municipal roads to avoid possible liability. Council has to consider to what extent the municipality should assume the risk of litigation because of the actions of a few individuals, he said.

Reeve Murray Fearrey agreed. "If the township's going to be held liable when a snowmobiler runs into a car, we're going to have to look at abandonment".

Fearrey suggested that cottage associations at KENNISIS and Haliburton Lake should be made aware of the problem, and asked to do something about it. He said the associations may be able to police their own members, particularly if council makes it clear that the alternative to reduced speeds and more responsible driving habits on the part of snowmobilers is the abandonment of plowing operations.

Council was uncertain about age restrictions pertaining to the operation of snowmobilers on township roads, but Minden OPP community services officer Gary Chapman says the rules are the same as they are for cars. At age 12, a youngster may obtain a snowmobile licence that permits the vehicles to be operated on public trails, but he or she may not cross any roads. At age 14, a youngster with a snowmobile operator's may cross roads at right angles, but is not permitted to drive the machine on them. At 16, a person holding either a valid motor vehicle licence, or a snowmobiling licence, can ride the machine on roads where permissible under the Motorized Snow Vehicle Act. But in all cases there are specific speed limits which must be observed. Where the posted speed on a road is 50 kilometres an hour or less, the legal speed for snowmobiles is 20 km. an hour. On roads with a speed limit of greater than 50 km. an hour, the maximum legal speed for snowmobiles is 50 km. an hour. All public trails carry a speed limit of 50 km. an hour, whether or not the speed is posted.

The act also permits municipalities to set different rates of speed on roads or trails, or to ban snow machines from its roads altogether.

Chapman admitted that police have a hard time enforcing speed limits for snowmobiles, particularly if an officer is patrolling in a cruiser.

"As soon as somebody breaking the law on a snowmobile sees you, he's over the snowbank and gone," Chapman said.

Police have two men on snowmobiles patrolling cottage areas throughout the winter, and their machines' speedometers have been calibrated against a radar gun. This enables officers to follow speeding snowmobilers and get an official clocking of their speed. So far, four speeding charges have been laid in this manner this season, Chapman said.

Council passed a resolution following Monday's discussion which calls for formal notification to cottage associations that plowing may be cut off if snowmobilers continue to flout regulations.

Officer hurt stopping car

A Minden OPP officer was slightly injured last Monday when his cruiser was struck by a stolen car. PC Brian Dunham was treated at Haliburton Hospital for injuries sustained as he was attempting to block the escape of a stolen car that had been spotted a few minutes earlier in Haliburton village.

The incident began at about 7:30 p.m., when PC Mike Maher, on patrol in the village, saw two youths getting into a 1977 Thunderbird. Maher tried to stop the vehicle as it drove away, but was unsuccessful.

By last Sunday, when this photo was taken, warm temperatures had left puddles several inches deep on Head Lake. By Tuesday the weather was still warm, rain was falling steadily, and hopes that the outdoor events at this weekend's Winter Carnival could be held were fading fast. But the carnival will go on as scheduled, with indoor events taking up the slack left by the cancellation of races, sleigh rides, and possibly skiing.

Modular home park planned for Donald

Dysart et al council has given preliminary approval to a rezoning application that would permit the development of a modular home park in the Donald area.

Lon Duncombe, representing developer Rex Boice, told council on Monday that the proposed park would be similar to Lutterworth Estates. It would be located on the former Harrison property, Part of Lots 1, 2 and 3, Concession 1, Dysart, which Duncombe described as "good, flat country" for such a development.

The company would provide roads, sewer and water hookups, street lighting and landscaping. Lots would measure approximately 100 by 125 feet. Homes would be of modular construction, and would be sold to the occupants, but the land would be leased by the developers to the home owner. Duncombe said the system is a proven one, and permits the developer to control tenants for the benefit of all, so that property standards and the ambience of the development can be maintained.

Duncombe said there is a potential for 75 sites in the initial development, with more land available for future expansion should interest warrant it.

The development would be targeted primarily at retired people, Duncombe said. "It would be long term project. You're not going to see something there for a couple of years."

With council's approval, the developers will begin the process leading to a possible rezoning of the property.

Council, and adjacent property owners, will have opportunities for input into the plan as it progresses.

Compromise sought on closure

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has reached a compromise with Ingoldsby residents who were objecting to a proposal to close a shoreline allowance in the hamlet and convey it to the abutting property owner.

The application for closure came from John Hill and other members of his family, and relates to property abutting land popularly known as Pine Point. Hill said that his family has always had control of the shoreline allowance because it owns the property behind it. In the past, the Hills have permitted people to use the area for swimming, but in recent years that privilege has been abused, Hill told council. Young people have used it for parties, causing disturbances by yelling and playing stereos, have built bonfires on the site and strewn the area with garbage. Hill said his family could no longer tolerate such abuses.

A delegation of Ingoldsby residents presented a petition opposing the proposal, claiming the public should continue to have access to the swimming area in front of the property. They suggested that council purchase Pine Point as an alternative to the closure.

Councillor Pat Burk suggested that council could resolve the problem if it agreed to find and develop

Carnival will go despite wet weather

By 'TOQUEPIQUE'

It takes more than a little bit of rain and very mild weather to dampen the spirits of the Rotary Club of Haliburton to the point where they would consider cancelling this year's Haliburton Winter Carnival. The Echo received word Tuesday morning from this year's Carnival chairman, Dale Robinson, that everything is in high gear and despite the weather conditions, the carnival will go on.

At press time Tuesday night, conditions were anything but good with mild temperatures and rain turning Head Lake into a pool of water and snow melting quickly.

Unless there is a drastic change in weather conditions before Friday night (and according to the weatherman one would have to be quite an optimist to think that there will be), many of the outdoor events will have to be cancelled.

Outdoor events such as the fish derby, ice sculpture judging, snowmobile races, cross country skiing, sleigh rides, snowmobile drag races, and outdoor ball hockey will all have to be cancelled unless cold weather moves in.

Bob Bishop of Sir Sam's ski area said Tuesday morning that it was very disappointing to think that the 450 students who had planned to ski there on carnival Wednesday would have to call it off until weather conditions improve. He also said that Saturday and Sunday events planned for the ski area would have to be put on hold for the present time while waiting to see if it turns cold enough to ski.

The following events will go on as scheduled. On Friday the 1984 Winter Carnival will open with a free family skating party which gets underway at the arena at 4:00 p.m. and will continue for five hours right up until 9:00 p.m. This is your

Industrial site a boon to Haliburton

It hasn't been greeted with trumpets and drum rolls. It hasn't even had an official opening. But for more than a year now, an industrial park created by Dysart et al council on the outskirts of Haliburton village has been attracting a good deal of interest among area businesses and among people looking to establish enterprises new to the area.

The 60 acre parcel lies west of the dump road and north of the Brewer's Retail, Brooklin Concrete and Kashaga Ford. Council purchased the land in 1982 for $25,000, and has since spent $70,000 to construct a road through the site and survey it into 32 lots of about two acres each.

Reeve Murray Fearrey says the decision to buy and develop the land was made because council was having a hard time satisfying the needs of prospective business developers. Many people were interested in industrial land, but there was none available close to the village. Council had a site in Donald, but it was too far from the centre of population and retail activity to be attractive. As a result, some businesses which might have come to the area decided to go elsewhere.

That experience convinced council that they needed to find a suitable site close to the village. The land beside the dump road looked like a good bet, and the price was right.

Council's original plan was to sell the lots for $4,000 each, but road and survey costs have pushed the price up somewhat, and lots are now selling for $5000. For that amount, businesses get a location within a mile of the village, on a road built to municipal standards, with 550 volt power service. And they are assured that their business operations will not interfere with

A place for future businesses

Dysart council has spent about $70,000 to build a road and survey its 60 acre industrial park near Haliburton village, but the effort is paying off. At least 10 of the 32 lots in the development are sold or have sales pending. Council should recoup all costs soon is the present pace of sales continues.

residential properties.

The combination was an appealing one, and the response was swift. Reeve Fearrey says it is "gratifying" to see how well the development has been received.

"We've had six lots sell and close in 1983, and we presently have four offers, with several other enquiries."

Many of the businesses which have located, or are hoping to locate, in the industrial park, are new to Haliburton. About two thirds of them are new to Dysart et al, and proposals for some of the lots have come from businesses new to Haliburton County.

While development of the industrial park has not been "a major job producing scheme", according to the reeve, it has enabled businesses to establish close to the residential area of the village, and has eased conflicts between business and residential uses within the community.

Council knew there was a need for the industrial park before it committed itself to developing it, but even so, "the response has been quite astounding" Fearrey says.

"It was somewhat of a gamble, but looking even a year ahead, it won't be a risk to the taxpayers."

If the present rate of sales continues, the industrial park may be full, or close to it, within a few years. Even if it isn't however, the local economy should be feeling the effects of increased activity in the Haliburton area.

Council rejects bid to suggest vote

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has added its support to an application by the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery for funds from county council, but councillors rejected a resolution from Gary Kenney asking representatives Lyle McKnight and Ed Pergolas to "consider" voting against any allocation of funds to the Rails' End Gallery unless a similar amount is given to the Minden facility.

Kenney brought his resolution to the table last Thursday, two weeks after he gave council notice of his intention to do so. Councillor Dave Stevens seconded the resolution so that it could be discussed, but declined to support it.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said he did not think that the resolution was necessary. "I don't think that this council endorsing it really matters" McKnight said, "I think it will be considered on its own merits."

Deputy reeve Ed Pergolas also was opposed to Kenney's resolution. He said there has been "Too much 'I'll give you this if you give me that' " at county council.

"I certainly will support the art gallery" Pergolas said, but passing the resolution would "put (Minden representatives) in an awkward position."

"It might harm us more than it does us good" he said.

Kenney said he was asking that the Minden Gallery receive "like treatment" to the Haliburton Gallery in county council's budget, and that he did not think it was "out of the councillors' interests to make representation to our county representatives."

But reeve McKnight said Kenney's resolution was putting the onus on deputy reeve Pergolas to decide what constitutes like treatment for the two galleries. He said the motion left the "door ajar" for arguments over whether $1000 for one gallery and $3000 for another constituted "like treatment".

McKnight noted as well that it is the first time the Jamieson Gallery has made a direct appeal to county council for grant support, and that in his resolution Kenney was "leaving the impression that the gallery had been turned down before."

Councillor Pat Burk said she felt the resolution was "a little like saying 'you better do it or else' " to county council.

In the end Kenney withdrew his resolution and tabled another asking only that council support the application for funds from the Gallery. It passed without opposition.

Races postponed if rain continues

With rain pouring down from leaden skies, snowbanks shrinking and Head Lake covered with ever deepening pools of water, it was looking less and less likely by press time that this weekend's snowmobile and ATC races would be held.

Race organizer Pat Kennedy said Tuesday that he and his helpers were "looking carefully" at the possibility of cancelling the races.

"It's looking right now like they're not going to go" he commented.

A cold snap by Wednesday could save the event, but forecasters were calling for the mild weather and rain to last at least until Friday, and possibly right through the weekend.

If the mild weather is still around on Thursday, the races will be considered cancelled, Kennedy said.

They will be rescheduled for the following weekend, February 25 and 26, weather, of course, permitting.

Even if you're a devoted participant in winter sports, you have to admit that this bleakest of seasons has been a particularly long and chilly one. So while you may not share the excitement some people feel when they gaze out on slushy lakes and shrinking snowbanks, you will at least share a twinge of anticipation. Just when it seemed that warmer weather had been banished to other regions, winds swept up from the United States, bringing the first intimation of an approaching spring.

The trouble with all of this is that it had to happen just when members of the Haliburton Rotary Club were putting the last touches on plans for this year's winter carnival. If it had waited a week to start raining, all would have been well. But the club cannot back out now, and so they're putting on a brave face as the rain spatters in ever-deepening puddles and the winter's crisp whiteness turns a muddy brown.

There seems little chance that all of the planned events can be salvaged. Such attractions as the snowmobile races, fish derby, snow sculpture contest and sleigh rides will in all likelihood have to be cancelled. Cross country and downhill skiing events also are threatened. But there is still enough activity to make the carnival a successful one, if people make a special effort to support it. Months of work need not be wasted, no matter what happens to the ice and snow. Organizers have done all they can to assure a fun-filled weekend. The rest is up to you.

The pressure's on

Dysart et al council faces a difficult problem in trying to find ways of controlling the actions of irresponsible snowmobilers. Council has a responsibility to minimize the chance that liability claims will arise from accidents involving snowmobiles on municipal roads. Road crews are particularly concerned, since it is they who bear the brunt of the problem. Road superintendent Howard Roberts told council on Monday that the situation in the Kennis Lake area is "a nightmare" on weekends. Roberts said crews may refuse to plow the roads unless the situation improves, or they may require a police escort to stop the speeders before the plows can do their work.

None of these problems would occur if snowmobilers abided by the laws of the province. But according to many observers, there is an increasing disregard not only for regulations, but for common sense.

It seems clear that local police cannot begin to grapple with the situation. There are too few officers and too many snowmobilers. So the responsibility to reduce the risks must rest with everyone involved directly or indirectly with snowmobiling. In particular, parents should make themselves aware of the fact that youngsters under 16 cannot operate a machine on any road, and that those under 14 may not even legally cross a road at right angles.

Unless there are some significant improvements in the behaviour of some people who ride snowmobiles, local councils may be forced to ban the machines from municipal roads altogether. That would be a hardship to those who do operate snowmobiles responsibly, but it would be greeted with approval by many car and truck drivers, who could find themselves involved in fatal accidents through no fault of their own.

Council took a first step on Monday by agreeing to write to local cottage associations asking them to try to curb speeding on cottage roads. The alternative is road abandonment and no plowing.

Those would be harsh measures. It is up to snowmobilers to ensure that they will not be necessary.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I read your editorial pointing out the immorality of shooting a dog caught chasing a deer, to preserve the deer for the hunter's bullet, and wish to compliment you on the same. I must admit I was surprised you were brave enough to take such an obviously unpopular stand. As a frequent visitor to the area, I thought I understood the problem of dogs and deer, but I am afraid I believed that dogs were shot for something more serious than a simple chase. I guess I was wrong!

The dog owner in this case will have to live with the fact, he is partly to blame for what transpired, but at least he was there trying to get his dog back. I don't know any dog worth his salt that wouldn't chase a strange animal that happened through his yard. In cases like this I can't see the deer being of more importance than the dog. I was particularly galled by the remarks of Officer Tomlinson in the Toronto Star, stating that "he liked dogs as much as any guy, and he would have saved the animal if he could". He could have saved the dog by not pulling the trigger! This officer, or anyone else who would advocate shooting a pet under these circumstances hasn't got a clue to the bond of friendship that can, over the years, be forged between man and his faithful companion.

I personally feel that the officer who shot the dog in Kilmount, did a lot of conscientious Conservation Officers a great disservice. His over-zealous and irresponsible actions have branded his colleagues as a bunch of trigger happy individuals who go around shooting people's pets. This officer's training obviously did not include any lessons on how to tactfully do his job, and the reasonable and humane treatment of his fellow man. I must confess that I wonder, if this officer only gave the pet seven minutes to live before killing it in front of his owner, how much time would the dog have been given if the owner hadn't been there?

If the bleeding heart public really bought the pictures of a few dead deer some papers ran, as justification for the dog being shot, I have to wonder if these people spend two weeks every November with their heads stuck in the sand. As for the hunter who wrote in suggesting that hunting is not for the pleasure of killing, but for a delicious meal, I say this. The deer could be herded and killed by the MNR and the meat sold commercially, but I frankly don't believe the excitement of the check-out line would satisfy many hunters! To suggest hunting is a cheap way of putting meat on the table, is like saying buying a Wintario ticket will pay for your holidays! If every hunter bagged a deer, one season would wipe out the population. As to humane, there are instances all too often where a deer can be shot many times and escape. These animals will either die many hours later from loss of blood, or days, weeks, or even months later from infection.

I am willing to concede hunters their rights, and it does fulfill an economic need in the area, but the need does not warrant the cruel killing of a pet in front of his owner. Until such time as the Ministry of Natural Resources adopts a better way of dealing with the problem, perhaps pet owners who value their animals should invest in some of the deterrent devices that have been mentioned, to protect their pets from the whim of a Conservation Officer, should they find themselves in the same predicament.

Yours truly,
Gary Stevens,
Kilmount, Ontario

It's time to bring on the music, turn on the lights and let's get ready to let the good times roll as we usher in the 1984 Haliburton Winter Carnival which is set for this coming weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 17, 18 and 19. We have no doubt in our minds that with the new events that have been added to this year's program and given half decent weather we could be in for one of the best winter carnivals ever held here. I could take up a great deal of space here going over every event that is on this year's program but I am not going to do it. The reason being is that it is all down in black and white in the Haliburton Winter Carnival supplement that appeared in last week's issue of the Haliburton County Echo. We hope that you have enjoyed reading this special section and that you will keep it for reference to be used when ever you need to look something up this weekend.

In this special Winter Carnival section we have attempted to bring you up to date on what you can expect to do and see come this weekend in various write-ups throughout the section. This week we are placing extra copies of this special supplement in many business places and we will be attempting to place them in key spots during the weekend. These supplements are free for the asking so make sure that you pick one up.

With all of the bad news these days what we really need to chase away the blues is not more depressing news but something that we can get some enjoyment from and have a good laugh or two for a change. That's what this coming weekend should be all about, not a time for tears, but a time for fun and laughter. In other words it's a time to get away from it all. It's also a time to get together once again with your family, some of whom will be home for the first time in ages, it will be a time to meet and greet new friends who you will be meeting for the first time and also it will be a time to participate in the many events that will be on the menu. As you can see there will be plenty to do and see and we want to take this opportunity to welcome you to the 1984 Haliburton Winter Carnival. So come on out and have a good time.

The NHL Oldtimers Hockey Club are coming to the Minden Community Centre this Friday, February 17 at 8 p.m. to play the Minden All Stars in an exhibition game. Our own Ron Stackhouse will be playing with the NHL Oldtimers while some of the players on the Minden All Stars will be Dave Brown, Dave Hartwick, Neil Burk, Ted Vasey, Jeff Campbell, John Barkwell, Tom Lee, Scott Russell, Larry Kent, Larry Sawyer, George Nicholls, Gary Brohman and Tom Curry.

On Saturday, February 25 from 7:30 - 11:00 p.m. the members of the Haliburton United Church are going to have a party at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School. All those who will be attending will have the opportunity to choose their own activity, or several others such as badminton, ping pong, euchre, Trivial Pursuit, bridge, boggle and a Jayne Fonda Workout, etc. It's for adults only and dress is very casual.

We have been asked to inform our readers that the headquarters for the Haliburton Winter Carnival coming up this weekend will be located at Curry Motors' showroom at the corner of Highland Street and Maple Avenue. You will be able to pick up your free Winter Carnival supplement there with the programme of events included and other information on the various events and times can also be obtained.

News this week from the Rotary Club of Haliburton tells us that the annual Jack Robertson Memorial Bonspiel is slated for the Haliburton Curling Rink on Wednesday, March 7. Draws will be at 9:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. In other Rotary news we learn that Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson will be off for a free weekend in Toronto as Paul won the prize for getting the most prepaid pledges, $700 in total, for the recent Snowarama. This Thursday night, February 16, the scheduled speaker will be Clark Moon, Directory of Community Relations for Goodyear Canada Inc.

The Highlands of Haliburton has received up to this time what you might call a near record snowfall and you can bet your bottom dollar that more will be on the way before this winter is over. With all this snow and rain thrown in for good measure it all spells out the fact that it's time to have your roof shovelled. The people who own cottages in the area should be quite concerned as we understand that cottage roofs in our area and other areas have fallen in with the heavy weight of snow. There are several men who are working day and night shovelling off roofs in the Highlands tourist area and you would be wise to get one of them to shovel off your roof. Some of them are listed under Skilled Services on the classified page of the Echo. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

The Driftwood Restaurant at Haliburton is now under new management. The new owners are Grant Crofts and Wayne Ellison. They have been there just under two weeks now and already have made many changes to the interior of the building. They are featuring charbroiled steaks and burgers and have extended the times of their business hours.

A little over one year ago, a salesman by the name of Sid McLean solicited businesses in the Haliburton area for participation in a Telephone Directory Cover. Advertisers were asked to put up a deposit of $200. No one has had any information from him since. If your company was one of the advertisers please contact the Chamber of Commerce office today, as we are about to take action against him. This was not done through the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce but as some of our members are involved we are trying to help.

C.E.W. (Environment Canada Week) will be celebrated from June 3 - 9, 1984. This is an opportunity to focus attention upon environmental issues and concerns on the national level and on the local scene. C.E.W. is observed in June each year with the dates changing to incorporate June 6 which is World Environment Day.

A planning "kit" is available from Environment Canada, Regional Director General, Ontario Region, 55 St. Clair Avenue East, 7th Floor, Toronto, Ontario, M4T 1M2 or telephone (416) 966-5840. The "kit" offers some basic suggestions for C.E.W. events and projects which could be developed to reflect our local community.

Also available are hand films, slide shows and booklets on issues such as acid rain and pollution. Promotional items such as posters and public service announcements are presently being produced for distribution in March.

This might be a project for your school, cub/scout group or other interested group to consider participating in.

Mindenites and all those committed to wearing 1850's apparel this year (the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden are celebrating their 125th anniversary): we have been able to obtain photocopies of the garments of that era. If you need some ideas, drop in to the Chamber office Monday to Saturday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Perhaps you are looking for styles from the 1780's to celebrate Ontario's Bicentennial - we can also be of assistance there, in fact we can help you all the way back to 4000 B.C.

Is there anybody out there trimming extra tall cedar hedges? We would like to borrow the top 5-6 feet of your trimmings for the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce booth at the Sportsmen's Show, March 16 - 25. The idea is to bring a bit of the country to the city, to attract the vacation-minded visitors to the Highlands booth and to keep the host/hostess of the Chamber booth from getting homesick. It was agreed that rented potted palms would not be appropriate. Campbell's Garden Centre have offered us extra large pots to temporarily plant the evergreens in. Pines will also be considered.

A belated Happy Valentine's to all with this contribution from a brochure sent in by the Wunkers of Miner's Bay Lodge - "In designating

Options For Living -- Part III

Home Care: Ontario has thirty-eight home care programs. Services defined under the Health Insurance Act provide such needed supports as: Visiting Nurses Services; Physiotherapy, Drugs, Dressing and Medical Supplies; Transportation; Meals-on-Wheels; Visiting Homemaker Services. Fifty-six per cent of elderly people 75 years of age and beyond make up the caseload for chronic home care in Ontario. Without this service, the majority of these people would have to give up community life. However, cracks are becoming visible in this much needed service. A 1981 Medicus Canada report revealed several: 1) eligibility requirements fluctuate throughout the province; 2) interim rates for costs per professional visit were not adequate to meet the costs of the program in many parts of the province and four area programs are operating under deficit funding; 3) staff lay offs are appearing, primarily in the north to address deficit funding issues; 4) eligibility requirements need to be expanded to include -- a) older chronically debilitated patients who don't need the present required hours of nursing care but need homemakers services, b) Alzheimer patients, c) terminally ill; and, 5) administrative costs are variable across the province resulting in such disparate costs/visit as $13.30 in Windsor and $21.20 in Simcoe County in 1982.

Necessary Reform: In April 1977, at the Institute de la Vie World Congress in Vichy, France, Elaine Brody stated: "Long-stay institutions are living arrangements and their residents have social, psychological, emotional needs that go beyond survival, subsistence and medical maintenance." This statement -- radical at that time -- obviously demanded reform. The statement is no longer radical. The reform is conspicuously absent.

What seems to be needed is a uniform standard of care and one set of regulations to govern all long term care providers. The province should undertake a general review of shelter options for the elderly and future alternative options involving both the public and private sector. Increased support is needed for demonstration projects which develop innovative care options for the elderly: respite services, day programs, outpatient programs, home assistance, day care.

To meet the increasing needs of its aging population, Ontario must be willing to propose a new system of service delivery which provides real options for living -- not simply provide cosmetic reform to an antiquated system.

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

Over the past few years, I have been a strong proponent of any and every effort that can be made toward improving productivity in the public and private sectors in Canada. It is my firm belief that economic recovery must be built upon a strong foundation for it to be able to be sustained. Those countries which first realized this, Japan, Germany, etc., have been much better able to weather the most recent economic downturn.

As I have stated on several occasions, the government has as big a role to play as the private sector in improving productivity. On February 3, 1984, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce released its Report entitled, "Better Value For The Tax Dollar: Improving Productivity of the Federal Public Service". They define productivity in government as the total value of the services and programs provided compared with the amount of resources required to produce them. Their recommendations are as follows.

1. As a high priority, the federal government should introduce a program of sustained productivity improvement covering the entire public service. The program should include two approaches: (a) better design and control of programs; and (b) better management and operating efficiency. Operating in a context of fiscal responsibility, the program should ensure that Canadians will receive better value for their tax dollar.

2. Political leaders, public servants and the public should all play a part in the productivity improvement program, which should therefore be designed to: strengthen the political will to give productivity improvement a high priority and to make productivity-improving decisions; build on the strength that is within the public service; and generate private sector support through a better public understanding of initiatives already underway, of the aims of the program itself, and of productivity achievement of political leaders and public servants.

3. The productivity improvement program should be designed within the government by those knowledgeable about the characteristics and circumstances of departments, agencies, programs and systems.

4. Guidelines for designing a successful program should include recommendations:

- to approach the task broadly with the joint participation of political leaders and public servants.
- to use the best "brains" available at the political level and in the public service.
- to pursue "excellence" in the organization and processes of the public service.
- to build on current initiatives within the government for controlling expenditures and improving management and accountability.
- to re-examine and remove constraints that inhibit productivity.
- to improve or maintain the quality of service to the public.
- to announce productivity improvement targets publicly.
- to evaluate and publish results of the program.

5. The Canadian Chamber and its members should urge the government to adopt a productivity improvement program, should assist where possible, and should assess the results.

I agree with the Chamber's feeling that productivity improvement would help the government cope with its growing financial problems. These recommendations of the Chamber, if implemented, would go a long way towards improving the current situation.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Save Those Seeds

About this time of year, my mouth starts watering at the thought of fresh garden produce. Unfortunately, if the Canadian government has its way, my summer garden may start losing its thrill, and its tomatoes, or possibly its corn.

Last November the Canadian delegation to a meeting of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome helped defeat a motion to ensure the preservation of disappearing agricultural crops. There's a long story, of course, filled with international politics and the power and profits of agribusiness. But like the Irish potato famine it has a potentially devastating conclusion and a simple moral.

The problem is that under today's agricultural strategy, the world is losing the wide variety of local plant breeds which have evolved over centuries, in favour of a smaller number of high yielding strains. And as the older crops die out we lose the genetic stock for developing new varieties. This dramatically increases the susceptibility of our food supply to agricultural disasters, such as pests and disease, and the need for heavy-duty chemical protection.

That's what happened when the potato blight struck Ireland in 1845, where the entire crop was descended from a handful picked up by Sir Walter Raleigh in his travels abroad. That's what we're risking by developing a domestic reliance on a few varieties of food crops, allowing commercial interests to monopolize plant patents and displacing old crops with high yielding types bred in new world environments.

Some experts have voiced protest, including Pat Mooney of Brandon University, in Manitoba. However, it was not until the UN meeting last year that third world countries put some political muscle behind this concern. And so they should. Most of our food plants evolved from their genetic stock. Tragically, they have been giving it away gratification instead of wisdom. This requires trash commercialism, trash materialism and trash trivialities for the fulfillment of these desires. This trash is the cause of much of the acid rain and requires about 20% of the labour force directly and indirectly to keep our enslaved senses gratified.

Huntsville wins tournament

Haliburton Midgets edged in tie breaking shoot out

Haliburton's OMHA Midgets started off impressively in the annual Tim Harrison Memorial hockey tournament in Minden on Saturday, skating to a 9-1 win over Little Britain in the tournament's opening game. But they were edged out in the second round, dropping a 4-3 decision to Woodview Park in an overtime shootout.

Huntsville emerged as the top team, earning the Tim Harrison Memorial trophy donated by Harrison Real Estate. The consolation trophy, donated by the Minden Rotary Club, went to McKenzie Park of Oshawa.

Scoring for Haliburton in their win over Little Britain were Len Johnston from Jeff Howe, Cory McKnight from Glenn Hall, Len Johnston from Chris LaPorte and Jeff Howe, Paul Kuno from Glenn Hall and Greg Newell, Hall from Ron MacDonald and Paul Kuno, Tran LaRue from Cory McKnight, Andy Miller from Mike MacNaull and Cory McKnight, and Ron MacDonald from Paul Kuno and Glenn Hall.

In other opening round games, Woodview Park took St. Annes 7-3, Huntsville blasted McKenzie Park 12-1 and Sacred Heart blanked Powassan 5-0.

Haliburton's second game was an exciting one, as the teams were tied at the end of regulation play, and failed to gain an advantage in overtime, forcing a shootout.

Scoring for Haliburton were LaPorte from Newell, Miller from LaRue and McKnight, and LaPorte from McKnight and Johnston.

The overtime period was five minutes of stop time action, with three players and a goalie on the ice for each team. When neither side could break the deadlock, tournament rules called for a simultaneous shootout. Jeff Howe came in close and hit the post, but the Woodview Park shooter put one past Haliburton net minder Vince Duchene for the win.

Final score was 4-3 in favour of Woodview Park.

The other game on the championship side saw Huntsville stop Sacred Heart 9-3.

On the consolation side, Little Britain blanked St. Annes 6-0 and McKenzie Park edged Powassan 2-1.

Huntsville took the championship with a 5-2 win over Woodview Park, while McKenzie Park got the consolation title with an 8-3 win over Little Britain.

The most valuable goal tender award went to Scott Westley of Oshawa's Woodview Park team.

Midgets lead series with Powassan club

The OMHA Midgets have taken a one game lead in a best three out of five series with Powassan. The win came last Tuesday in Powassan, and it was an impressive one, as Haliburton skated to a 9-2 advantage.

Scoring for the local boys were Mike MacNaull from Tran LaRue and Andy Miller, Chris LaPorte from Len Johnston and Cory McKnight, Johnston from Ian Cooper and Greg Newell, Newell from Miller and McKnight, Miller from MacNaull, LaPorte from Cooper, from LaRue, LaPorte from McKnight and Johnston, and LaRue from MacNaull.

In game one of the series on January 29, Haliburton romped to a 15-3 win. Chris LaPorte was the top goal getter, netting four and adding an assist. Other scorers were Mike MacNaull with two goals and two assists, Greg Newell with one goal, Jeff Howe with two goals and four assists, Andy Miller with two goals and one assist, Len Johnston with two goals and two assists, and Glenn Hall with one goal and

Second game goes Saturday

LaRue from MacNaull and Newell, Cooper from LaPorte, and LaPorte from Mike Blake and Cooper.

Game two of the series went Tuesday night, too late for press time. Game three will be held this Saturday night at 8 p.m. at the Dysart arena.

The Midgets have been looking strong in post season play, having wrapped things up on January 15 with an 8-0 win over Humphrey, then taking Humphrey in three straight games of the playoff opener.

In the final season contest, the local boys blanked Humphrey 8-0. Scoring were McKnight from LaPorte, Miller from LaRue and MacNaull, Miller from Newell, LaPorte unassisted, MacNaull from Miller and Blake, MacNaull one assist.

Game two on February 4, was a similar story, as Haliburton pumped in 10 goals while Humphrey scoreless. Chris LaPorte had three goals, Len Johnston a goal and an assist, Greg Newell a goal and an assist, Ian Cooper a goal and an assist, Tran LaRue a goal and an assist, Jeff Howe a goal and two assists, Ron MacDonald one goal and Mike MacNaull one goal.

Game three, on February 15, saw Haliburton skate to a 15-1 win. Scorers were MacNaull with a goal and six assists, LaPorte with four goals, Miller with three goals and an assist, Howe with two goals and four assists, Blake with one goal and two assists, LaRue with three goals and two assists, and Johnston with one goal.

This was the scene last year at this time as snowmobile races were held on Head Lake as part of the winter carnival. This year the events may have to be cancelled. If the weather is still mild by Thursday, the races will be postponed until February 25 and 26.

Ski events in doubt unless cold returns

Organizers of the Haliburton based events in this weekend's winter carnival aren't the only people who are hoping that the weather will turn colder by the end of the week. Local ski enthusiasts also have reason to look skyward in anticipation of a return to normal winter conditions. And that's particularly so because this coming weekend is slated to be a big one at Sir Sam's ski area, Eagle Lake. Carnival weekend brings Ski-nanigans to Sir Sam's, one of the highlights of the winter for devoted downhillers keen to add a little variety and zaniness to their favourite sport.

Ski-nanigans is a chance for skiers to cast aside their designer ski clothes and wear something a little different. The event will be held on Saturday, not Sunday, as reported in the schedule of carnival events provided by the Rotary Club for last week's Echo carnival supplement. There'll be cash prizes for the best costumes of the day. As well, a Molstar race is planned, and it gets underway at 1 p.m. At 3 p.m. there'll be a chocolate bar race for youngsters, and in the evening, a dance to wrap up Ski-nanigans.

On Sunday (not Saturday as reported in the carnival schedule) Sir Sam's will stage the Curry Motors giant slalom race, for the Curry Motors Cup.

It should be a great weekend of skiing. Don't miss it.

Atoms leading Fenelon Falls

Team gets second win with outstanding work by goalie

Haliburton's OMHA Atoms need only one more win to eliminate Fenelon Falls in their best three out of five Ontario playoff series, and if they continue to play as well as they did on the weekend, the local boys should have no trouble advancing.

On Friday the team travelled to Fenelon Falls to open the series, and they came away with a 4-2 victory.

Reid Elstone opened the scoring for Haliburton in the first period with help from Jamie Hunter. Jason Billings then made it 2-0 for the local boys on a ply that was assisted by Wade Wood.

The advantage held for the rest of the period, and throughout the second, neither team was able to change the situation.

In the third frame Wood tallied with help from Billings to make it 3-0 for Haliburton. Fenelon got going at that point, netting two goals. But with three minutes left to play, Billings scored unassisted to assure the win for Haliburton.

On Sunday the teams met for game two of the series. As many as 100 supporters were on hand at the Dysart arena to cheer for Haliburton, and they weren't disappointed. Goal tender Hans Fluegel played outstandingly throughout the match, robbing the visitors of excellent scoring chances with dazzling foot and glove saves that drew loud appreciation from the fans.

Haliburton opened the scoring as Wade Wood beat the Fenelon net minder with help from Jamie Hunter and Jason Billings.

In the second period Fenelon tied the score, then Billings replied unassisted to put the local boys back on top. Greg Stamp added another from Chris Greenfield and Derek Wilson to make it 3-1. Later, Billings tallied unassisted and it was 4-1.

In the third period Fenelon scored twice, but Haliburton hung on for a 4-3 win and two

Summer Canada '84

Let's put tomorrow's work force on the job today.

Everyone knows that summer jobs give students a chance to earn money to continue their education. But that's just part of the story. Summer employment is also the best way to get the kind of experience that makes it easier to eventually find a full-time job. Employers who hire students help to develop skills that will benefit them in the future.

The Government of Canada will assist sponsors of Summer Canada Works projects with a contribution towards student wages and job-related overhead costs.

YOU CAN HELP TO CREATE JOBS FOR STUDENTS THROUGH SUMMER CANADA WORKS PROJECTS
Summer Canada Works projects provide productive employment for local students. Projects should employ at least three local students and should produce goods or services to benefit the community. All jobs must be full-time and must last between six and 18 consecutive weeks during the summer.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE FOR FUNDING?

Community and volunteer groups, professional and technical associations, most local governments and private sector employers are eligible for Summer Canada Works funding.

HOW TO APPLY

If your organization has an idea for a Summer Canada Works project, contact the nearest

Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office of Employment and Immigration Canada for information and application forms. APPLICATION DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 24, 1984.

Staff at the Canada Employment Centre can also give you more information about other Summer Canada programs and services. These include:

Seniors curl in Hamilton spiel

By TOM STINSON

Now that Haliburton curlers, skipped by Bob Colliver, have taken a win over the world champion skipper Werenich, in the Masters competition - let's go further.

This past weekend a rink from Minden, and another from Haliburton Seniors participated in the 51st annual OCA Seniors Tankard held at the Hamilton Thistle Club, both coming home with wins right into the semi finals of second and third events.

Minden's rink was skipped by former Lindsay president Milt Endicott, helped by John Beachli Sr., Jack Harrington and Jim Burton.

Haliburton's Senior club reps were Jim Holmes, Bruce Armstrong, Ed Picard

and Tom Stinson.

This old and revered club certainly put on a great show and the hospitality was exceptional. The big sign for Haliburton and Minden rinks when they were involved in play on the ice attracted a fine group of supporters behind the glass. Many players know us well from having cottages and friends in our county and it was a pleasure to meet with them - and to merit their enthusiasm and grand support.

Well, next year is always the by-word and the hope for a trophy win.

Coming up for seniors men's curlers: at Minden - Red and White Trophy - Tuesday, February 21; at Haliburton - Red and White Trophy - Saturday, February 25.

February as Heart Month, the American Heart Society had in mind to focus attention on a vital organ that must be taken care of.

We may neglect the heart in that respect, but we give it plenty of attention symbolically and metaphorically. The word is used to designate the seat of love and vocalists warble about broken hearts, cheating hearts, and lonely hearts.

You can experience a change of heart (not to be confused with a heart transplant), be heavy-hearted or lighthearted, or endure heartbreak. Or possibly the diagnosis is that you are heartsick, coldhearted, or hardhearted.

If a child wants to emphasize the truthfulness of a statement, he solemnly affirms that he will cross his heart and hope to die if he is not speaking the truth. If he is found not to be telling the truth he is likely to become engaged in a heart-to-heart talk with his mom or dad.

Being frightened is described as having your heart in your mouth.

We hope we have made you conscious of an indispensable part of you that needs your care and attention.

That's the real heart of the matter

Northern Lights

By VIRGINIA MUENZEL

Every now and then, my husband gets inspired. Some of his brain storms are ingenious. Others, I'd rather not discuss. If I were a critic, I'd give "the Jeep" mixed ratings. Let me explain.

As vehicles go, "the Jeep" is truly a work of art. Its skeletal frame, a four wheel drive, 1965 Willy's Jeep with a 1955 Chevy six-cylinder engine, was purchased during our first winter here. Ed decided we needed a snow-plow, plus a flatbed to haul wood, and maple sap and junk around. "The Jeep" fit the bill. At least in his mind's eye. You see, while it had the cylinder and controls, it was missing the hydraulic pump and the plow.

"That's ok," says he, "We'll build one. It will give me something to do this winter." So Ed and his buddies put their heads together. And keep them busy it did.

It was the beginning of the end for my tidy, organized, brand new basement. The three of them spent a good part of the winter entrenched there. First, there would be hours of deep thought and discussion, sprinkled with an old story or two from the thinker of the group. This would be brought to a halt by a sudden hoot of triumph each time one of them arrived at a solution to a major technical problem. Then, they'd disappear for a few hours, either up in the bush, out to the garbage dumps, or off to other secret places I never learned of. Returning laden down with scraps of metal or other interesting paraphernalia of various shapes and sizes. Once they came back with two trees. I gotta tell you, that had me stumped (no pun intended). Then they'd go back to the cellar for much hammering, sawing, drilling, and a couple of bad words. This eventually led to several pats on each other's backs, along with a smattering of self-praise, after each part was successfully assembled.

You'd think listening in, it was the first plow ever made. Indeed, it didn't resemble any plow I'd ever seen. None the less, after several weeks of the above process, the big day came for the test-plow.

Believe it or not, the monster worked. If originality counts, they took the prize. They had to start it with a screwdriver. The doors latched with a hook. The hydraulic system was fashioned from the power steering pump from our '65 Chevy Nova. (Now I know why it suddenly handled like a truck.) Under the hood rested one of Mrs. Olsen's three pound Folger's coffee cans as a hydraulic oil reservoir. And there were the two ironwood trees running front axle and plow to hold it in position. Henry Ford himself would have been proud of these three budding engineers.

But there are two sides to my tale. You may recall a movie that was advertised a while back about this old Chevy that had a mind of its own. I think it did away with people who mocked its appearance. "Christine" was its name, I believe.

Now, I'm not accusing "the Jeep" of anything that dastardly. However, to this day, everytime Ed gets behind the wheel, something strange seems to overpower him. I get the feeling he's not in control. I mean, he plows for hours! He doesn't

Did you know -- that this is the time of year to register with the Outreach Centre for a summer job?

The Haliburton Highlands Outreach Centre is located on Highland Street in Haliburton and is open Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. 'til 4:30 p.m.

They serve Haliburton County by providing people with information on Social Insurance, all programs pertaining to employment, Unemployment Insurance, upgrading courses, apprenticeships and employment opportunities. To receive help with any of these subjects, you must however, register with the Outreach.

Jayne Heppleston, the Counsellor Co-ordinator of the centre, says that her advice for people looking for summer employment, "shouldn't wait for summer to roll around to register with us. We can't let people know about programs or jobs coming up if they aren't registered. Until they are registered, we have no record of them."

To remind you, the Haliburton County Information Centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton. We are open Monday to Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Drop in sometime or call us at 457-2733.

And remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

As you know our organization has a "Transportation" program. Volunteers are doing an excellent job in providing this much needed service. We have noticed over the years that many people are travelling to Peterborough for doctors' appointments and treatment. It has been suggested to us that perhaps people who wish to share the cost of the trip could book their appointments, say on Wednesday, and in that way a few people could travel together with pick-up points along the way. This is a possibility and one you may wish to consider - I would be pleased to hear your comments, just call me at 457-2941.

Remember seniors, if you need a drive, you are welcome to use the service of the volunteers by calling 457-2941.

We had a birthday party for Mrs. Knight, her years are 99; she is a dear lady and everything turned out fine. We were served a really nice lunch, with a cup of tea. Many came to congratulate her which was good to see. This is not all; she won Monday morning down at Fun and Fitness playing bucket ball.

In the chapel service Sunday night, Rev. Bruggess spoke about the devil. He said "this is a subject I don't like to discuss but once in a while I feel I really must." He said if you resist the devil and live a Godly life, the devil can't cause you any great strife.

We have Polly Prentice back after her stay in hospital. We hope when she rests awhile she will get fit as a fiddle.

Monday night Linda showed movies for us to view, "Helicopter Canada" part one and two.

Tuesday morning Rev. Elliot of Minden Anglican Church conducted a Communion service in the chapel. This Tuesday, Fred Ballard came the music to play. We thank them both for coming, we would like to say.

Tuesday afternoon we played the quiz game all the way through, to answer some of the questions was really hard to do. Tuesday night Daryl came alone to Hyland Crest. He entertained us royally and gave us of his best. Daryl really has the touch. Thank you for coming, we enjoyed you very much.

Congratulations to Wayne Cox who works here, being elected president of the Minden Agricultural Society for the third year.

I took a stroll down to the craft room this Thursday afternoon, to sit awhile and see what they were doing. Some were knitting afghans, others making dolls, some fitting them out with the cutest overcoats.

Wednesday night, Earle and Kathy came all the way from Grass Lake and entertained us royally. They sure have what it takes. They played fine music, on fiddle, mandolin and accordion. We thank them both for coming. A job well done.

Down at Fun and Fitness, Fred Ballard pulled up his socks and won the game throwing the balls in the box.

Thursday afternoon ladies from Lutterworth Estates came and brought a lovely lunch, which was really great. They served it up so willingly and washed the dishes too, then joined us in a sing song, a nice thing to do.

The bingo was conducted by Steve Crowe and Murray King. Thank you for coming much pleasure did you bring.

Grace and Norma came again this Friday afternoon, Grace to lead the singing, Norma to play the tunes. Grace sang different numbers, we enjoyed very much. Norma plays so lovely she really has the touch.

Payne and Deacon came Friday night but didn't bring Don Burch. He ran out of steam I guess and left them in the lurch. Bill and Eldon sang and played and entertained us fine. We are always glad to see them come most anytime.

As you know, this is Haliburton Winter Carnival weekend. While you're in town enjoying all the activities, if you should need to warm your toes awhile, come into the Rails' End Gallery. The Model Railroad Show, organized by the Lindsay and District Model Engineers, begins February 17 at 8:00 p.m.

The Railroad Show has been in existence for several years. They have a display each spring in Lindsay. It's surely an event that will appeal to the entire family.

On display will be model trains set up in various stages. Some with completely finished landscapes. Others, half finished with members working on track and landscape. There is also a repair centre where machinery can be fixed.

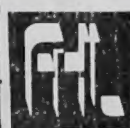

Demonstrations of ongoing operations by members of the group will take place on Friday, February 17, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., Saturday, February 18, from 10:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and Saturday, February 25, from 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Meanwhile, during this same time, the Winter Carnival Sale will be taking place in the Guild Room of the Gallery. There will be a wide variety of arts and crafts on display from Guild members, including silk, pottery, weaving, leather, and woodworking.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY
Doug James, his wife and three sons, accompanied by his mother, Marion, of Bowmanville, spent last week end at their cottage on Pine Lake. Marion enjoyed a bit of skiing but the wet snow didn't promote favourable conditions.

We are glad to know that Ken Graham has been able to return to his home after undergoing gall bladder surgery. We trust he will soon be restored to his former good health.

Last Saturday, February 4, was the day of Gooderham's annual Fishing Derby and Stump Jumpers' Snowmobile Ride which proved to be quite a successful event.

The fishing derby was held in the morning on Pine Lake with over 70 registrants. In one spot water on the ice made the use of a boat desirable.

Little five year old Jody Graham won a trophy for being the youngest fisherman. Dorothy Mintz won an electric fan, donated by Stoughton Electric, for being the oldest woman to catch a fish.

The oldest fisherman was Murray Hunter. (They must have been a young lot!) He received a 40-piece socket set donated by Schwandt Lumber.

A cleaner assortment, courtesy of MacDuff Texaco, was won by Wayne Stoughton for catching the first trout.

Blair Reil caught the most fish, winning a 40-piece socket set donated by Madill Plumbing and Heating.

Ron and Dorothy Mintz won a dinner for two donated by Graham's Shell Station for the first couple to catch a fish.

Murray Hunter caught the biggest fish, a 12 lb. 10 oz. pickerel, thus winning $50, donated by M.W. Hunter Lumber. Murray kindly turned this in to be drawn again and the winner was Donna Graham.

Blair Reil won $5 donated by Young's Autoshop for the smallest fish while Murray Hunter won a free tow, courtesy of Gooderham Collision for the first pickerel caught.

Winners in the ticket draw were: first, Ronnie MacDuff; second, Murray Bolton, Wilberforce; third, David Reil.

About 30 people enjoyed the snowmobile ride. The going was hard due to the recent rain but all who took part had fun.

A delicious beef dinner was served in the Community Centre. A dance concluded the day's events.

A vote of thanks is tendered to Anne Franke and her assistants, who, as usual, worked tirelessly to produce an excellent dinner; to those who donated prizes, and to all who patronized the events and helped to make the day such a success.

The children at the Gooderham School, under the direction of their teachers, Chris Bailey and Jane Miller, enjoy classes that are both educational and interesting.

In January, Dana Colliver of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, a Rotary exchange student to Australia, visited the school. She described life in that island continent and also showed pictures which enhanced her talk.

In February the theme is "Dinosaurs" and this is being correlated in all their different subjects such as Reading, Spelling, English, Mathematics, etc. In the afternoons this topic is used in all their projects, including the making of paper mache objects, especially dinosaurs. It even carries into their cooking lessons - preparation of meals for dinosaurs, made by the children. One popular item will be pizzas. Did you know dinosaurs ate pizzas? Both rooms are working on this project.

For March and April they will be concentrating on plans for celebrating Ontario's Bicentennial. We will hear more about this later on.

Friends of Pat Adams will be glad to know that she is progressing favourably after surgery in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

We are sorry to report that Theresa Peacock is a patient in the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital. We trust she will soon be able to return to her home.

After such a long cold spell, isn't it great to dodge the odd water puddle, and have even watch for bare spots on the road? Thank goodness, last Tuesday the roughest street in many a town was finally graded. Albert St. from Main Street to the public school had to be something out of the wild west - and now it is great - so smooth. I wonder how many car shocks or springs have been damaged due to the big pot-holes that have been there for well over a month? And that big bad bump at the south end of the bridge was finally repaired last week. When Bell, or whoever, did work there last fall, they had to dig right across the highway. Though it was filled in at the time, traffic has taken its toll and thankfully, that has been filled in again.

I was sorry to hear that Elmer Bowins is again in hospital in Lindsay. That leg he had broken last fall has not healed properly or the plate in it is causing a problem. We think of you, Elmer, and hope you are soon all better and able to be back on the job at Home Hardware.

I accompanied Mary Snodden and Millie Moss of Kinmount, along with Diane Vickeray of Cardiff to the Avon Presidents Club Luncheon held at the Nottawasaga Inn at Alliston on Thursday, February 9. We enjoyed renewing acquaintances from past years from North Bay and other further away areas. The day included a dinner, a film, draws for prizes and awards and incentive information. We had good driving weather and a good time.

Winners in the last two card games held in the hall were as follows: Euchre, January 31: ladies' first, Eleanor Hannah, 80; second, Ethel Farrow, 70; consolation, Dorothy Brown, 48; most lone hands, Eleanor Hannah, 3; men's first, Stan Steward, 75; second, Tony Kenneth, 73; consolation, Basil Walker, 48; most lone hands, Stan Steward, 4. Bridge: first, Mary Heffer, 3800; second, Mary Heffer, 3660; consolation, Joe Heffer, 1370. February 6, Euchre: ladies' first, Helen Alguire, 75; second, Eleanor Hannah, 71; men's first, Laurie Barkwell, 79; second, Donald Alguire, 77; consolation, Ron Pearce. Bridge: first, Jack Simms, 2670; second, Percy Crapper, 2470; consolation, Ruth Brown, 1220.

Jean Callan remains in Ross Memorial Hospital not well, but slightly improved. We wish Jean continued renewed strength and look forward to seeing her home again soon.

The film, "Night Song" was well attended at Faith

Tabernacle on Friday night. Zeb and Edith Munro and Ada Irwin, all of Lindsay, were visitors of Ross and Myrtle Faulkner last week, on Thursday.

Gordon Timleck is home again after treatment in Sunnyside Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Rutter and Gar-net and Mrs. Cora Lake visited their sister and husband Jack and Jane Bradamore at Little Britain on Friday.

We enjoyed having our Worthy Mistress back out to Lodge on Monday evening. We met at the home of Edna Pearce and had a most enjoyable meeting. Mrs. Frances Nesbitt spent January with her sons, Ron and Linda Nesbitt and family and Bob and Carrie Nesbitt and family, at St. Thomas. Daughter-in-law Linda came back here and spent a week with her mother-in-law. Linda is home again so if you're lonesome Frances, you'll have to round up another daughter-in-law.

Annie Marles and yours truly were Sunday dinner visitors of Bill and Ann Goode and boys at Queensville last Sunday.

Mrs. Beatrice Barkwell of Lindsay was a visitor of Sam and Millie Routley on the weekend.

APPOINTMENT

Dixie Lee Chicken and Seafood of Minden and Haliburton are pleased to announce the appointment of WENDY HUGHES to the position of Manager of the Minden store. Wendy brings with her numerous years of experience in serving the public. We extend congratulations and wish her every success in her new Manager's capacity.

Wilberforce News

A big Fish Derby will be held by the Wilberforce Branch 624 of the Royal Canadian Legion. On Saturday, February 18 the Legion Hall will be open for registration at 6 a.m. Area of fishing takes in Dark Lake, Grace Lake and Farquhar Lake. Join in the contest and add some zip to these dull February days. You could be the lucky winner of first prize of $100, or perhaps second prize of $50. Failing these, how about the third prize of $25. There are also other awards to be won.

Kay and Fred Broad came to Wilberforce some years back. They loved the area and chose it for their retirement. They soon settled into the community, making many friends. Fred, a Legion member, gave many hours of work to the Hall. The couple attended the Anglican church services, joined the senior citizen club and the library. They spread good humour and friendliness. Their daughter Leslie married a local boy, Eric Finlay, of Tory Hill. It was a sad day when Fred passed away. Kay Broad, unable to manage alone, moved to Haliburton and now she too is no more. They were a fine couple and we were lucky to have them with us for a few years.

There is increased interest shown in the annual Gary Agnew Memorial hockey tournament which is held in the Wilberforce arena. On Saturday, February 18 the teams will gather again to compete in this straight Bantam contest. This year there are three teams from Peterborough and one each from Keene, Norwood, Duro, Bewdley and Wilberforce. The games continue from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. This is a good a.m. to 6 p.m. This is good hockey entertainment for fans of the game. Your applause will serve as a welcome reward to the players.

The South Algonquin Kinsmen Club is made up of a group of energetic, young men working for the good of the community. They have come up with a wonderful idea to mark Ontario's Bicentennial Celebration year. They are sponsoring an ice sculpture competition. All clubs and groups in the area are invited to take part in this project. Prizes will be awarded for their efforts. The contest is for residents of Gooderham, Tory Hill, Wilberforce, Harcourt and Highland Grove. There is plenty of material on hand to work with, so give it a try. You may produce a masterpiece. It will be fun to try. Sculptures should be completed by February 20. Judging will take place on February 25. Just hope that it will not be a melting week.

Happy belated birthday to Brian Rafuse of Jackson's Point who celebrated his second birthday, Saturday, February 4. Brian's daddy, whom I told you of recently, was allowed home, though in a wheelchair, to help in the festivities. He was to return to his hospital bed the same evening. Eugene at last report still may have to lose part of a foot and possibly some fingers. As of Saturday though, the doctors were still holding off and the family are still hoping for good news.

Late results of the Galway card party held Wednesday, February 1 are: men's high, Jim Nightingale; men's low, Heinz Int-Veen; ladies' high, Flo Drinkle; ladies' low, Betty Stuart; most lone hands, Bill Holstock.

Happy birthday to Ray Allen, Doug Drinkle, Jim Nightingale, Flo Drinkle, Ken Young and his daughter Nancy. Also happy birthday wishes to Jane Rolfe, Angela Franzen (a bit late, girls). A very happy birthday to Irene McNamara.

Randy Grozelle was the winner of $13.50 in the Kinmount Legion 50/50 draw held Saturday, February 4.

If you have wood logs you wish cut up give a call to 488-2261.

Some of the local area Avon 'reps' attended their annual President's Club luncheon on Thursday, February 9, held this year at the Nottawasaga Inn in Alliston. It was very enjoyable and always very nice to get together with friends.

How about the fog and ice on Saturday? Bill had a 'slow motion' fall on said ice before he came into the house. No damage done but it sure shakes you up. Just take it easy, better still, stay in the house if you can.

A number of folks from this area enjoyed the dinner/dance at the Moose Lodge in Lindsay on Friday, February 10.

We had Helen, Alex and Shelagh Graham over from Norland for a very nice visit Friday afternoon.

I hope Verna Crego, Helen Jones, Sam Telford, the Allens and anyone else who may not be well are feeling much better very soon.

Our daughter Bonnie, is one of the many enjoying a stay in the warmer climates at the moment. She presently is in some part of California.

Try this one girls, Chow Mein Noodles: ½ cup of peanut butter, 1 package butterscotch chipits, 1 tin chow mein noodles. Method: Melt peanut butter and chipits in saucepan. Remove from heat and add noodles. Drop teaspoon on waxed paper. Cool. Very tasty.

One gentleman in our town who has a favourite saying, "if you do something dumb once you shouldn't do it again." Well, some years back this same 'gent' changed a fuse in his home only to have everything to off and on at intervals and that even included the drainage of water from the washer, which stopped and started through the entire cycle. It took a long time before anyone let him forget that one. He'd put a Christmas blinker fuse in and you know the rest. This past week the aforesaid 'gent' got up from his bed and without turning a light on, put a log of wood on the fire. His son came out later preparing to go to work and found one of his boots had become firewood. It will now be some time before this one gets lived down.

Take care, stay healthy and happy, read the Echo and call me at 488-2353.

There was a Norland Horticultural Society meeting last Monday, February 6 at the library. There was an election of officers and everyone who previously served was re-elected. Also, the society is eager to acquire new members. What about you?

The local council is establishing a light outside the community hall. It is to monitor the temperature inside. If, for instance, the furnace breaks down and the temperature drops, on comes the light. If anyone sees that the light is on please contact a council member or Vernon LeCraw.

A Pinch of Sand

By H. JEAN BROWN

The North River Yacht Club in Tuscaloosa, Alabama is famous for its brunches. Here are two of the specialties from The Captain's Cabin.

Blueberry Pancakes

1 cup milk
1 egg
1 cup all purpose flour
1 tbslp. sugar
1/2 cup blueberries
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup sour cream
1 tbslp. baking powder
2 tbslp. butter melted

Mix milk, beaten egg, and sour cream, beat. Stir together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add to milk, beat slightly, fold in butter then berries. Using 1/4 cup of batter per person pour onto greased griddle. Turn when tops are covered with bubbles. Serve with blueberry syrup.

Syrup

Orange Fritters

2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1 tbslp. grated rind
powdered sugar
2 tbslp. butter melted
2 cups all purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 tsp. salt
hot oil

Beat eggs in large bowl, add sugar, stir in butter and rind. Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Mix. Add to egg mixture alternately with juice. Begin and end with flour. Let stand 15 mins. Drops by tsp. into hot oil (350°). Cook golden, turning once. Drain on paper towels, sprinkle with powdered sugar. Makes about 36.

Agricultural Report

By MARK LEAHY, Farm Management Specialist
Victoria & Haliburton Counties

4-H Clubs will be organized in Haliburton County this spring.

4-H is for young people between the ages of 12 and 21, as of January 1, 1984. Members care for a selected project over the summer and exhibit at the 4-H Club Achievement Day.

4-H has been a successful program in the County in the past. Organizers are looking forward to an exciting year in 1984.

Projects available this year are horticulture, swine and goat.

A big person in the 4-H Program is the Club Leader. The leader is a volunteer who helps in organizing and running the 4-H club. He or she provides guidance and instruction to the 4-H members. The leaders co-operate with the local Ministry of Agriculture and Food staff in administering the 4-H Program.

4-H Leaders are needed to help out with the 4-H Program.

If anyone is interested in a challenge working with young people, please call Hazel Elliott, R.R. #2, Haliburton, at 457-2683, or Maurice Bradley of Harcourt, at 448-2850.

More information will be provided at a later date on the 4-H Program in the County.

just plow a path down the drive. He plows enough space for a small city parking lot. He keeps pushing the snow back further and further, muttering about making room for more snow. What's more, things tend to get in his way. So far, an apple tree, a lilac bush, a maple sapling, the neighbours' mailbox, and the cap on the well have bitten the dust. Thank goodness we don't have a partridge in a pear tree.

I guess I shouldn't complain. It keeps him home and out of trouble. After all, even mechanical geniuses have equipment breakdowns. The trees were eventually replaced with sterner stuff. The plow blades had to be redesigned. The clutch went, etc., etc.

When I decided to write about "the Jeep" I asked Ed if he ever had a name for it. He gave me a couple of names he had called it on various occasions. "Never mind," I said.

Also the seller of the winning ticket will receive a 14" colour T.V.

Beginning on February 21, the Surface Embellishment course will be held on the third Tuesday and Wednesday of each month through May. This course offers students an opportunity to be exposed to a variety of new approaches and techniques to work on silk or cotton. Students who have some previous experience will be able to improve and expand their knowledge. Techniques to be covered will include: stencilling and air brushing on cloth, block printing for clothing and bags, wax resist dyeing, painting and batikting. There are no pre-requisites for this course.

The classes will take place at the Haliburton campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College. Session I runs from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and has already been filled. Session II is from 6:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. and has room for a few students. The fee for session II is $45. The studio will be available at one other time each month for students to complete necessary projects.

Also, this month, the new smoking group will begin on Monday, February 27 at 7:00 p.m. at the Gallery. Interested persons are welcome.

The Quilting Group is having its second meeting on February 16 at 10:30 a.m. Beginners and old hands are welcome. Bring a lunch.

The executive of the Lindsay Presbyterian UCW met at Cambridge St. United Church on February 6 with Thea Brandsma, president, presiding. Carole Tully of Cambridge St. UCW extended a warm welcome to everyone. Thelma Endicott led in a short worship service. She and Pat Burley conducted a dialogue on "Stewardship". In summary the question was asked "If we were to give an account of our stewardship to Jesus would we fare any better than the rich young ruler?"

Dates for the regional rallies were set. Region 1 will meet at Valentinia on May 8. Region 3 will be meeting at Cambray on April 26, and Region 4 at Baddow on May 2.

Members were reminded that the Presbyterian annual meeting will be held at Cannington United Church on March 20 with the theme "People matter, people count." The speaker will be Marion Minifie who will give an account of her Mexican experience. Closing date for registration for the Conference UCW annual meeting is March 20. It will be held at Queen St. United Church, Lindsay on April 3-4. The theme this year is "Faith in Action". Rev. Robert Lindsay of the National Office of the Division of Mission will be guest speaker.

The president reported that 10 Korean women will be visiting Canada this year and will be in the conference area from September 20 to October 20.

Presbyterial officers present gave short reports pertaining to their office. Doreen McAlpine, social issues secretary, stated that the pornography issue was still being worked on. Thelma Endicott, stewardship secretary, said three different studies from the Faith in Action kits were available free from the office at 85 St. Clair Ave. E., Toronto. Brenda Robinson, youth coordinator, stated that there were two events being held for youth, one at Five Oaks on March 2, and the other at Belleville on May 11. Neta MacArthur, of the A.D.A. Task Force, had a booklet "Stay Real" for anyone wishing same. This was information for parents regarding their children and marijuana. Orlee Wells, vice-president, expressed appreciation on behalf of the executive to Thea Brandsma for her excellent contribution to the work of the UCW during the past two years, and asked for the same co-operation for Olive McDonald, incoming president.

Thea Brandsma gave a graphic illustration on the structure of the church beginning with the local congregation up to General Council, showing the various offices involved in each, and how the UCW is represented in different divisions throughout same.

The next executive will meet at Woodville on June 11.

First Aid course planned

By MARILYN MIGHTON

Even before the Crusades to the Holy Land an Order of Hospitaliers, whose Patron Saint was St. John the Baptist, created a series of "Hospitals of Jerusalem" to care for sick and injured pilgrims. This Venerable Order of St. John continues to grow and its main function - the teaching of first aid - is carried out by the much respected St. John Ambulance.

The motivating ethic of St. John is epitomized by the parable of the Good Samaritan as written by St. Luke the Physician. The parable that emphasizes the importance of caring for the sick and injured in a compassionate and yet practical manner. You will recall two travellers, when seeing the badly beaten victim of thieves by the roadside, "passed by on the other side". Their reasoning was undoubtedly based on the qualities of selfishness, apathy, callousness, and insecurity that persist to this day under such circumstances and are expressed by statements such as, "It would not be convenient to stop and help", "it's not really my problem", "I do not want to get involved", "I would not know what to do". The third traveller, a Samaritan, acted in accordance with the Golden Rule, "Do unto others what you would have them do unto you" - a concept shared by all the major religions of the world. Those individuals who have learned first aid have already replaced the negative qualities by the positive qualities of unselfishness, concern, compassion and a sense of security of knowing "what to do". The ultimate goal of St. John Ambulance in Canada is to provide basic concepts of First Aid and safety for everyone.

Start your First Aid training with an eight hour safety oriented Emergency First Aid Course. Register now. Limit is 16 persons. Date: Saturday, March 5, 1984. Place: Health Unit. Time: 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. Cost: $15.50 per person. Register with Lloyd Johnson at 457-1451.
